

CORROSION MONITOR

Abstract

A corrosion monitoring system for attachment to a pipe includes a test fluid circuit having a galvanic cell and an ammeter operatively connected to the galvanic cell. The system is configured to attempt to match flow conditions in the galvanic cell as in the pipe.